Parashas Re'eh – “The Holy Senses of the Jew ”

In Parashas Vaeschanan, Moshe used the metaphor of “hearing” when he said, “Hear O Israel, HaShem is our G-d; HaShem is One.” (Devarim 6:4) At the beginning of this week's Parashah, Parashas Reeh, he switches metaphors and bids the People of Israel use another of their senses, that of vision: “See, I set before you today the choice of a blessing or a curse.” (Devarim 11:26) Then he proceeds to define each: “The blessing: that you obey the Mitzvos of HaShem, your G-d, which I present before you today. And the curse: if you do not obey the Mitzvos of HaShem, your G-d, and you stray from the path that I command you today, to follow the gods of others whom you do not know.” (Devarim 11:28) And now the visual metaphor comes most vividly to the fore: “It shall be that when HaShem, your G-d, brings you to the Land to which you will come to possess it, then you shall deliver the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal.” (Devarim 11:29) Anyone who has been to the area of Israel where those two mountains are located, will recall vividly the appearance of the Mountain of Blessing, Gerizim: green and fertile, while the appearance of the Mountain of the Curse, Ebal, is totally opposite, bare and devoid of green.

(In an entirely different context, we experienced the Har Gerizim – Har Ebal phenomenon recently. Since we moved to Monsey, there was a beautiful 2-acre totally wooded piece of land, across from our house. In the course of developing the property, every single tree was cut down. Of course, this involved a “spiritual improvement” in the land, since what is coming is a yeshiva.)

Returning to the senses of hearing and seeing, we find: “Guard and hear to all these words that I command you, in order that it be well with you and your children after you forever, when you do what is good and right in the eyes of HaShem, your God.” (Devarim 12:28)

Eating is another form of use of the physical senses with which we have been endowed by our Creator. Reflecting this, we find: “For you are a holy people to HaShem, your God, and HaShem has chosen you for Himself to be a treasured people, from all the peoples on the face of the earth. You shall not eat any abomination. These are the animals which you may eat: the ox, sheep and goat... But this shall you not eat from among those who bring up their cud or have a completely separated split hoof: the camel, the hare and the hyrax... This you may eat of everything that is in the water: anything that has fins and scales... and everything that does not have fins and scales you shall not eat. Every clean bird, you may eat. These are what you shall not eat from among them: the neshet, the perez, the ozniah... And every flying swarming creature you is unclean to you; they shall not be eaten.” (Devarim 14:2-4, 7, 9-12, 19)

The OU alone, the largest Kashrus-Certifying agency in the world, among many others, supervises nearly half a million food products. That's a lot of cookies and candy bars. Nabisco (including Oreo), Three Musketeers, Godiva Chocolate (given the first three letters of the company name, they really had little choice) have all come, so to speak, “under the wings” of the OU. And even though there is still some opposition (mainly from Jewish quarters), it appears that Kashrus is now accepted as a rational, healthy, even moral, form of diet. And, as you may remember from the other side of the page, Save the Date, for on Shabbos Parashas Ki-Savo, Sept. 12-13, Bais Torah will host Rabbi Steven Weil, Senior Managing Director of the OU, who will address the kehilla over Shabbos and Motzaei Shabbos.

L'Illuy Nishmas beni, Aharon Baruch Mordechai ben Pinchas Menachem
